3 Traffic Accidents Seen Here

A truck driven by Boie Maeweather for Wilkinson-Cooper Produce Co., turned over when the driver was not able to stop behind a line of cars being held up by the paving of U. S. 27 south of South Bay.

At least 3 accidents occurred Monday, afternoon in the reparation area.

Another accident occurred in this same spot when a Chevrolet driven by Ruth C. Lipert of Illinois slowed for the crew and Eleanor A. Birkmeier following in a Corvair collided with the rear of the Lipert Car. Miss Birkmeier was charged by Florida Highway patrolman H. C. Lockwood with "speed to fast for conditions." Damage was estimated on each of the two cars at $25. No damage estimate was given for the truck.

A third accident resulting in total damages of about $300 occurred under much the same conditions within two hours about 10 miles South of South Bay when a Plymouth ran into the rear of a Cadillac, when traffic was waiting for access to the one traffic lane in use on U. S. 27.

Patrolman Lockwood investigated all three accidents. No charges were made against Maeweather. A decision of charges in the Plymouth, Cadillac collision is pending.

Truck owner R. S. Wilkinson commented at the accident site that Maeweather had chosen the best alternative in avoiding collision with the line of cars and driving off the steep, canal boarded road edge.

No injuries were reported in any of the accidents.

Increase Made In Water, Sewer Rates Of City

The new water rates would amount to about 36 cents increase per month for a single family dwelling, according to City Manager Tevis Hugely.

With the passage of the new rates, following a study and report by Russell and Ason, consultant engineers of Daytona Beach, new contracts with some of the large users will have to be worked out, it

Load Zone Orderly; Police Alert

Migrant workers returned to the fields Wednesday after a two day boycott of the loading zone, a city block in the South West section of Belle Glade.

The boycott sealed off the loading zone both Monday and Tuesday mornings. The zone is the recruiting area for Belle Glade farmers gathering harvesting crews.

Tommy Martin, representative of the Industrial Union Department, (IUD), AFL-CIO said no comment could be made at this time about future boycott plans.

The halt was called, Martin said, "To give the growers a chance to get right, offer definite proposals."

The boycott is being conducted on a day to day basis, Martin said.

IUD officials said the immediate goal was in increase in pay, with improved housing next on the list. The officials did not wish to comment on a target minimum wage, saying workers would have to meet and make that decision. No workers meeting has been planned at this time, Martin said.

Vigilant police officers, both city and county, keep a close watch on the loading zone area where crowds gathered Monday and Tuesday mornings. Police were on hand again Wednesday to assure a peaceful end to the boycott.

Rumors of major incidents in the tense area have been circulating. However, the facts are less than dramatic.

Excitement was caused Mon

Miss Jane Young Is Named Editor Of Local Paper

Miss Jane Young has been named editor of the Belle Glade Herald, it has been announced by Thomas J. Heran, publisher.

A Glades resident for a number of years, Miss Young received her Bachelor of Science Degree in Journalism from the University of Florida in December. She was named acting editor of the Herald when Mrs. Verda Mathewson, veteran newswoman who served as editor and publisher for some time, retired from the newspaper.

Coming to Belle Glade with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Young, in 1949, Miss Young is a graduate of Belle Glade High School. She has taken an active part in community affairs during vacations from college.

She has served in Girl Scout work and as a reporter for the Herald.

Miss Young attended David Lipscomb College of Nashville for two years. She then spent a school year at the University of Friburg, Switzerland, followed by three months of travel in Europe.

South Bay Chief Arrested Soon After Dismissal

D. Ray Pugh Monday night was fired from his post as police chief of South Bay by the City Commission after the former chief was given an opportunity to resign.

Shortly after his dismissal, the former chief was arrested on a charge of "conspiracy to obstruct justice." The arrest was made on information filed by County Solicitor Marvin U. Mounts.

The arrest, eliminating six weeks of investigation by the county solicitor's office and Det. Claude A. Tindall of the sheriff's office, was made by Detectives Richard Bakker and James Kersey about three hours after the dismissal.

Shortly after arrival at the sheriff's substation, $500 bond was posted for Pugh.

While Pugh was attending the South Bay City Commission meeting at which his dismissal was called for by Police Commissioner J. S. Smith, Tindall and Gene Mount were arresting Carl Bradden, operator of Fred's Bar, on three counts of bribery.

Bradden is alleged to have paid Pugh to permit the operation of a house of prostitution, Tindall said.

been issued UFWOC, AFL-CIO membership cards by the end of the day. The target membership in Belle Glade is 8,000, he said.

"If we can get the farmers in the Belle Glade area to come to a bargaining table, then we will bargain with them. Solving the strike is not the labor's problem but the farmers' problem," said Dawkins.

"Although farmers did not 'sue' from the zone for two days, harvesting continued with small crews being picked up elsewhere or finding their own transportation to the fields.

Martin declined to comment on funds available to support the boycott, Monday he said. "We are not going to tell the farmers how long we can hold out."

No unions have been collected from migrants who have become members of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee (UFWOC) AFL-CIO, although dues will be set when members meet, Ervin Dawkins said. Dawkins said he is not an official of either the IUD or the UFWOC.

"I think you could just call Dawkins a leader of the people," Martin said.

Dawkins is supported by the field work he can get as well as by individual contributions interested people give him, Martin said. It is common practice for grass roots followers to contribute to their leaders, Martin said.

Martin said officials UFWOC and IUD officials were concerned with the boycott, it was not a union action but a spontaneous action of the workers. The UFWOC and IUD officials will offer technical advice but were not the organizers of the boycott, Martin said.

The IUD was involved in the San Crissman walkout last week, Martin said. However "I got out of line," he said. The union involvement in the Crissman walkout was an individual action by himself, Martin said.

Mike Loeffel, also with the IUD said "several growers have been contacted about a wage increase."

Loeffel declined to name the growers.

Martin explained this refusal to reveal names by, "Do you think we want to get someone hurt?"

Growers and their representatives who were available for comment said that they had not been asked for wage increases. Martin estimated Monday that 2,000 migrants would have

Total enrollment at Palm Beach Junior College for the Winter Term was estimated by college officials at 4,268 after all registration periods were completed Friday.

The 4,268 figure is 416 more than for the same term a year ago, and is the largest Winter Term registration in the history of the college, dropping 388 from the record enrollment of the Fall Term.

Civilians Plan Daytona Meeting

Delegations from the Belle Glade area, including Civilians of the senior club and their families and youth groups of sponsored Collegiate Civilians and Junior Civitan and Civette clubs (high school groups) will spend the weekend in Daytona Beach, participating in the winter quarter council meeting of the Florida District, Civitan International.

Included will be the Belle Glade club and its youth groups and members of the senior members' families. Business sessions are to be held separately by the senior clubs, the youth groups and the family groups. The Friday evening social program, Saturday luncheon and special program features during the weekend will find all the family groups participating. Headquarters for all events will be at the Daytona Plaza hotel.

Final figures may be somewhat larger, since evening totals of 1,510, included in the 4,268 figure were strictly estimates, and were conservative. The enrollment was nearly 300 in excess of the 4,000 estimated prior to the beginning of registration, most of the increase occurring in evening sessions.

"We are pleased to note the overall growth of the college, and particularly of the evening classes," Dr. Harold C. Manor, president, said.

"We were pleased, too, to note the immediate acceptance of many of the new courses, offered for the first time in the evening," he added. "The college attempts always to fill needs in the community, and we are happy when response from student enrollment shows we have struck the right note."

Draft Test Planned

The State Director of Selective Service, Brig. General Harold C. Wall, announced today that Selective Service College Qualification Test (SSCQT) similar to those given during 1966, will be administered on Saturday, March 11; Friday, March 31; and Saturday, April 8, 1967 in more than 300 selected test centers.

Application cards and Bulletin of Information concerning the test will be available at Selective Service local boards commencing January 20, 1967.

Any Selective Service registrant who is presently enrolled in college, or is a high school senior or graduate and has not previously taken the test, may apply. All applications must be postmarked no later than February 10, 1967.

The 3-hour test will be prepared and graded by Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. It is intended to predict a student's ability to do college work. The test consists of 150-multiple-choice questions equally divided to measure verbal and quantitative abilities. It is designed to determine the student's reading comprehension, the range of his vocabulary and his ability to interpret data in the form of charts, graphs, and tables. The candidate is also asked to solve short numerical problems that require ability to reason with numbers rather than advanced mathematical knowledge.

Scores will be forwarded by Educational Testing Service directly to the registrant's local board. Test results are of advisory nature and are only intended to supplement other information in the registrant's file. The local board may apply this optional criterion in determining eligibility of a registrant for occupational deferment as a student.

Any registrant wishing to know his score must submit his own local board for this information.

Cattle Price Look Good

U. S. D. A. reports on commercial cattle and calf slaughter reveal that 345,000 cattle were slaughtered during the first eleven months of 1966 in Florida as compared with 355,000 for the same period in 1965. For calves the number was 216,800 in 1966 as compared to 209,700 in 1965.

In spite of the increased slaughter prices have been good and indications are that there will be several years of good prices to cattlemen which is largely offset with present high prices of cattle and calves.

Large supplies of meat production may be a thing of the past but the problem of profits shows no signs of being solved.

Complete reports on the livestock situation and outlook are expected to be released by USDA covering the 1966 supply and demand of meats and indicated end of year inventories.

Wrestling Tag Team Slated

The Infernos, world tag team champions, will wrestle against Jose El Grand Lohario and Alex Medina at the Belle Glade Armory Friday.

'Playboy At Heart' Theme Of Glades Heart Ball

How do you decorate an artery to make it look smaller, less austere and terribly attractive. This is the 64 dollar question facing the Glades Heart Ball Committee. However, the committee working with Mrs. Eugene Pawley, their chairman, have some wonderful ideas in that regard.

The Heart Ball planned for January 28, 1967 for the benefit of the Heart Association of Palm Beach County will be held in the Armory.

Committee members have decided to use parachutes to lower the army ceiling and make things cozier. The theme of the ball is "Playboy at Heart" and with the help of Bunnies and the four huge boxes of favors, pictures, sash and etc. sent to them from the Chicago office of Hugh Hefner, the decoration should not present difficulties.

Feet will start tapping to the music of Joe Simon's orchestra the Saturday evening at the Armory, Jan. 28, from 9:30 P. M. and continue 'til 1 a. m. in the morning.

By the features of the Army Surplus Store has donated 19 parachutes for the use of the fall committee. Jewel Ball of Duxiana has been working hard trying to chase down others.

"Lots of excitement was engendered when the committee saw the Glades Heart Ball tickets, which are in the form of large Playboy keys. Mrs. Pawley said, All committee members are supplied with tickets, so don't be left out, call one of the following members, get up your table and help us make this the biggest benefit ball ever held in the Glades.

Heart Ball Committee is composed of Mrs. Eugene Pawley, chairman, 996-3125; Mrs. Guy D. Wood, Jr., area Representative, 996-1637; Mrs. Joan Levy, 996-7102; Mrs. J. T. Palm Beach society favorite Joan Fontaine and comedian Tom Ewell will co-star for the opening production, which is the World Premiere of a hilarious farce entitled "The Armored Dove," written by Thomas Nord Riley. This opens on Monday, January 16th, and plays for two performances, with the last performance, through Saturday evening, January 21st.

E. G. Marshall of "The Desperate" fame, and motion picture star Dennis O'Keefe combine their talents for the next offering, January 23 through January 28th, the current Broadway laugh riot, "The Odd Couple," by Neil Simon, to be directed by Danny Simon, brother of the author, and the original Broadway director.

Broadway's current, stunning production of Edward Albee's newest hit in a long line of successes, "A Delicate Balance," mounts the Royal Poinciana stage next, during the week of January 30th through February 4th. The stars are the current Broadway cast of Jessica Tandy, Hume Cronyn and Rosemary Murphy.

The man who opened up Mr. Hale's Playhouse for him ten years ago, Bob Cummings, has consented to come back for the 10th anniversary season, and he will be his funniest in the comedy hit, "Generation," which will be playing from February 6th through February 11th. Millions of

Thought Of The Week

He who imitates evil always sees beyond the example that is set, he who imitates what is good always falls short.—Confucius

MISUNDERSTANDING

An issue is being raised by striking housewives, striking workers and investigative government bodies, involving the question of whether or not our private enterprise, capitalistic system, which functions on the profit motive, is to be retained? The growing discontent, if it runs deep enough, will result in legislative action that will irrevocably the system under which we have lived since the founding of the nation.

Since any fair examination of the record will reveal the great benefits that have been derived from competitive capitalism, we must assume that the present discontent is based on misunderstanding—a misunderstanding that has been encouraged by irresponsible political actions that have led to the depreciation of the dollar. The rise of discontent among U. S. citizens, if not resolved, may well lead to the crippling of productivity and the erosion of liberty, as controls are substituted for the laws of supply and demand in a free market—a market that is incomparably the best in the world.

As the new year opens, we should all vow to try a little harder to understand what makes the wheels go around in the United States. That is the biggest task we face in 1967. Only through understanding can we erase excessive discontent and mistrust. Only through understanding of bread and butter facts of our economic system can we hope to retain the good and abundant life that, we have enjoyed in the past — to say nothing of freedom and our stature as a world power.

Where Will It Stop?

A new grocery store has opened in Brooklyn. In itself that would not be news, but this is a different kind of grocery store. It has been sponsored by the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity and represents the opening of a new front in the poverty war. The grocery store in question is a non-profit cooperative, which will use university funds to enter into competition with private enterprise.

According to Barron's the National Business and Financial Weekly, government poverty funds are being used as the starting point for what amounts to a whole new retail distribution system—a system that will be patterned after the cooperative outlet that has just opened in Brooklyn. In the words of Barron's, "All will use federal anti-poverty funds to set up shop in competition with private enterprise. . . . Already on OEO's payroll are some 20,000 'aiders' operating out of 1,000 Community Action Centers. They are spreading the co-op gospel door-to-door, even as they begin to form the actual units."

These federally-sponsored co-operatives will not be confined to grocery stores. They will spread in all manner of goods and services. They will confront the taxpaying retail distributors with subsidized government competition on a scale that could well undermine the mass distribution system that, as a partner to mass-production, has done so much to raise the American standard of living to its present eminence.

Government entering business on this broad new front poses a threat to the basic principle of principle of private property rights that could be revolutionary. The head of national independent business organization expressed the deep concern of many when he wrote the director of the War on Poverty and asked, "how far do you intend to go in using the fruits of free enterprise to promote socialistic concepts?" On the answer to that question may depend the future of the American economic system as we have known it — a system in which the taxpaying, private enterprise has been the main source of support for government.

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

The U. S. Stake In Africa

In deciding to join Prime Minister Wilson of England and the Afro-Asian bloc in the U. N. in their irresponsible vendetta against Rhodesia, the Johnson administration has embarked on a course of action widely depicted in the United States.

The War in STREET FURNAL, an important voice of the American business community, has described the U. S. action against Rhodesia as a game of "idiot's delight." Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who has been on the liberal side of political debates, has dissented from the administration position, pointing out that the U. N. Charter is absolutely explicit against interfering with the internal affairs of a sovereign country such as Rhodesia. He has cited the fact that the Rhodesia is threatening the peace in Africa by its act of independence, inasmuch as the U. S. shattered the peace of 18th century Europe by its decision to break with Britain, imperialism and become an independent nation.

Even such a longtime liberal as Walter Lippmann, the Washington pundit, has recognized that the U. N. in trying to bring Rhodesia to heel, is doing what the U. N. has never intended to do. And John S. Knight, chairman of the powerful Knight chain of newspapers, has observed that Americans should be warned "that U. S. support of the British position is a threat to peace in a gauge of the deterioration of American standards under the 'Great Society'." Rhodesia simply wants to live in independence. It does not seek financial aid from the United States, nor does it smile at the enemies of the United States.

I REMEMBER

By the Old Timer

From CURA ELLEN SLOSKI, Chicago, Ill.: Recently an acquaintance of mine, who I have known since our house on the way to the next larger town. There was something about her and her life in her unassuming room.

Sitting on the front porch munching on an apple it was great fun to see anyone you knew was on the street or you could wave gently to them as they passed in the windows. Because it was a small town and they were waving. And hoping that soon you too could ride on the street.

Mr. Goldberg should be ashamed of himself for terming Rhodesia a threat to peace. He should be busy pointing out to the socialist government of Britain the "neutral" or pro-communist states of Africa, Asia, that the real threat to peace is Communist North Viet Nam. Ho Chi Minh is killing Americans, not the government of Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia. Rhodesia isn't shipping goods to North Viet Nam, but Great Britain is. Rhodesia doesn't recognize the brutal regime in Peking; Britain asserts it is the legitimate government of China.

The international values emphasized by Mr. Goldberg at the U. N. are top-heavy. He should be busy looking for the real enemies of peace in Africa. They include the political leaders of Tanzania who have allowed Chinese Communists to arm and train terrorist bands for subversive war campaigns against Mozambique, an African province of America's NATO ally, Portugal. But Mr. Goldberg sees no danger in the United States, but of winning support for the administration among certain political groups in the United States.

The voices of common sense cry out for a reversal of the administration's African policy before the West suffers a loss in Southern Africa that could dwarf any loss in South-east Asia. Pressure against little Rhodesia paves the way for Russian and Chinese penetration of Africa.

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says

Dear Mister Editor:

The session at the country store Saturday night got started off on the subject of what folks was eating these days. What brought the matter up was Ed Doolie reporting his old lady had bought one of them fancy freeze banana pies and put it in the kitchen locker. Ed said he got the thing out to look at it and they was three strange varments listed in the ingredients. He couldn't spell 'em and couldn't pronounce 'em so he just copied 'em down. Mister Editor, so you could get this warning to the people: In addition to banana, cream, sugar, and eggs, these pies have got polysorbate 60, diglycerides, and carboxymethyl.

After sneezing a couple times over them words, Zeke Grubb come up with the idea that maybe it was the chemicals that was now putting in food that was making the price.

Clem Webster told the fellows he was running up to the store to get something for his wife. He wouldn't eat any thing and fear that reason all his life he has enjoyed anything put on the table, including his old lady's cherry pies that had never made it to the table with sugar to be noticeable. But he claimed he wasn't too sure, and carboxymethyl wouldn't eat him and he aimed to be more careful in the future.

Bug Hookum, that is a little on the skinny side himself.

The African sub-continent is one of the richest regions in the world. It constitutes a strategic asset for the West. If Westerners are expelled from Southern Africa as a result of a U. N. "peace" campaign, Americans and West Europeans will suffer greatly in the years ahead. The current trend of the Western world are directly related to the gold supplies coming from South Africa. The communists know this, and therefore, stir revolution in Africa to deny the West the stability of its monetary systems and to oust it from Africa.

The Johnson administration should be able to see what is at stake in Rhodesia and elsewhere in Southern Africa. Perhaps the insiders do understand. But they seem to heed only the emotional appeals by Africans to oust it from Africa.

U. S. policy on Africa has become not a means of protecting the United States, but of winning support for the administration among certain political groups in the United States. The voices of common sense cry out for a reversal of the administration's African policy before the West suffers a loss in Southern Africa that could dwarf any loss in South-east Asia. Pressure against little Rhodesia paves the way for Russian and Chinese penetration of Africa.

was of the opinion that folks in this country was actual eating twice as much as was good for 'em. He said he had saw this pie in the papers where 12,000 people in the world was starving to death every day and it was a sin for Americans to eat so much.

Ed said he believed it was the country folks that was eating too much, that more city folks just nibbled. For instance, he reported his daughter that works in the city had a dinner "lunch" was always eating with one hand in her lap. Ed figured he was including his old lady that had come to eat with both hands tied behind their back. He didn't call no names, Mister Editor, but I figured he was including his old lady that must weigh about 175 on the hoof.

It was the first time the subject of eating has been put on the agenda at the store and all the fellows was looking impressed. Incidental, the storekeeper announced he was getting a blackboard so Ed would quit messing up his walls.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Over one-half of Florida's business and industry draw upon agriculture as a source of merchandise, business or supplies, according to State Agricultural Experiment Stations economists.

The FarmFront

By Doyle Connor

Florida citrus growers are faced with a crisis. They have a 40 percent increase in production of oranges this year. As a result, prices are well below the break-even margin. The growers are not panicky but they are understandably concerned about a possibly $50 million loss unless they can profitably market their fruit.

All Floridians should be fully concerned, too, about this disastrous possibility. Citrus is this state's single, largest industry. Should it suffer an economic collapse, the effect would be felt throughout the state.

Every citrus-related agency in Florida is working around the clock, seeking to find new ways to encourage consumption of citrus. Inter-agency cooperation. I am told, has never been greater than it is today.

The Florida Department of Agriculture has offered whatever assistance it can render to the citrus industry. We also feel a sense of emergency about the situation. For the past six years during the month of January, the Department has sponsored what have come to be known as Spring Harvest Festivals in New York City. The same promotional-type program was initiated in February in Chicago five years ago.

Our only purpose in arranging these programs was to stimulate greater interest in Florida agricultural products in those huge food-buying markets. And I think we have been rather successful in that respect.

A direct benefit of those trips has been to establish and maintain a strong, personal relationship with food buyers of the nation's largest food chain stores. Each year, the Department has hosted a trade dinner which permitted our staff to meet with retail and food executives. In turn, the staff members have also been guests of a number of chain stores at their markets and warehouses.

Another direct benefit has been the opportunity for our staff to meet with food editors from the many newspapers, magazines and other periodicals as well as with radio and television personalities in those market areas. These contacts have provided excellent means of further telling the story of Florida's agricultural commodities available on the northern markets.

Because our New York City and Chicago visits have proved so successful, this year we will make trips to Philadelphia this month and to Milwaukee in February. The objective will be the same . . . stimulate interest in Florida-grown products with special emphasis on citrus.

It has always been our practice to invite representatives from Florida Citrus, Mutual, Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association, Florida Citrus Commission and other agricultural industry leaders to accompany our efforts with them. They, too, have been able to make valuable contacts with buyers up north.

We have again extended the invitation for these agencies and individuals to go with us. Our Department plans have been set aside so that we can concentrate our efforts with those of the agricultural industry representatives to help the state's citrus growers. Since the Department has access to many prominent individual buyers, we will use those open doors in behalf of our friends who will make the trips with us.

It is my hope that Floridians will increase their purchases of citrus this season. This is also a good time to ship fruit to friends living elsewhere in the United States.

Wesleyan Interfaith Pastor Is Making Trip To Asia

ALAN J. BERRY
Alan J. Berry, associate college pastor and director of "The Interchurch Ministry to Students" at Wesleyan University, embarked Dec. 20 on a month-long trip which will take him to Japan, Ceylon, Thailand, Singapore, Hong Kong and the Philippines. Mr. Berry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton T. Berry of 225 Royal Palm Drive, Belle Glade. During his school years he was active in the young people's activities of the Community Methodist Church. He graduated from Belle Glade High School and is a 1956 graduate of Northwestern University. Receiving his B. D. from Union Theological Seminary in 1960, he held positions with the Wesley Foundations of Duke University and the University of Miami. He came to Wesleyan from the University of Florida, where he was co-director of the University Chaplain Fellowship. Mr. Berry, chairman of the Political Concerns Committee of the University Christian Movement, will act as that organization's delegate to two international Roman Catholic meetings to be held in Ceylon and Singapore.

The Ceylon gathering, originally to be held in Dalt, Vietnam, but moved for political reasons, will concern "Preparing for Tomorrow: The University, The Church, and the Asian Revolution." The conference in Singapore will center around discussion of "Contributions of Christians to the Building Up to their Countries." Students, faculty, and clergy representing eleven Asian nations are expected to attend the two conferences. The Rev. Mr. Berry also plans to talk with student leaders in other countries about the political situation in Asia and ask them questions about China, the United Nations and Thailand. He will also attempt to establish some regular means of communications between student groups there and in the United States.

The University Christian Movement is an ecumenical organization consisting of Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox members. It is a student movement related to the National Council of Churches, embracing Dec. 20 on a particularly significant as exemplifying growing Christian unity and increased cooperation between Protestants and Roman Catholics. He hopes to be able to discuss his trip with interested students following his return to Wesleyan on January 16.

The Rev. Mr. Berry came to Wesleyan last summer as associate college pastor and director of "The Interchurch Ministry to Students." His salary and expenses are paid by a corporation consisting of the five Protestant churches in downtown Middleton. The "Interchurch Ministry" was formed in conjunction with Wesleyan in 1964 as a means of "relating a political growth in religious maturity to his work, his play, his academic studies, and his church."

Meditaciones Cristianas.

Por el Rev. Cesar M. Benitez.

NO SEAS PESIMISTA:

Hay quien siempre dice que no. Nada lo encuentra bien. Todo es queja, critica. Hay complejos, digamoslo diferente, hay odios, celos, vanaglorias en definitiva pecados. No hay entrega a Cristo por eso tenemos dificultades y grandes dificultades. Muchas vidas son todas negativas.

Amigo que lees en Cristo tenemos el eterno si. Veamos cosas hermosas a nuestro alrededor. Anímonos a las personas: busquemos en ellas cualidades buenas. Cristo se las encuentra. En cada vida el Maestro vive una posibilidad y muchas más.

La vida cristiana no se podrá vivir si no das tu corazón al Señor. Entregate hoy mismo a Cristo y tendrás paz, no de la que el mundo da, pero si de la eterna, de la del alma, de este mundo y otro mejor. No pierdas el tiempo encuentra a Cristo el Señor y serás nueva criatura. Tu vida tendrá propósito, sabrás a donde va.

"Busco dos cosas en este mundo, la verdad y el amor; quienquiera me ayude en esta diligencia es un amigo leal y verdadero!" Juan Wesley.

El Maestro nos dice: "Yo he vencido al mundo." Pongámonos la fe en alto. No temamos. Luchemos y venceremos.

"Blessed is the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin."
— Psalms 32:1-2

Temptation is as old as the history of mankind. We expect far too much if we believe that God will give us a life that presents no challenge to our conscience. Some may claim that the modern world surrounds us with temptations in greater number and variety than in times past. Perhaps this is true, yet temptation works eternally upon the same human frailties there is the strength of faith that has turned temptation aside for generations.

"CREDIBILITY GAP"
The "credibility gap" is a term invented by newsmen who feel that they cannot always believe official statements emanating from the top levels in Washington.

One of the Ten Commandments is, "Thou shalt not bear false witness." Jesus put it more strongly when He said, "The devil is a liar and the father of it." The Bible also says, "All liars shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone." There is an 11-year-old girl living in Central, S. C., who could give lessons in integrity to some who hold high positions but do not seem always to have high principles. She was a contestant in a Ultimamente se ha inventado una nueva "madera sintética" para los muebles que se utilizaba a partir de este año 1967, dada la escasez y altos precios de la madera dura. Tam- bien hay escasez de trabajadores para trabajar con habilidad la madera, de salarios de estos son muy altos.

"Madera Sintética" es un plástico imitando madera, cuyo grano simula caoba, cherry, waldy y otras maderas duras. Las nuevas técnicas hacen lucir estos muebles de madera sintética, casi igual que los de madera natural, tanto que la mayoría de las personas ni se dan cuenta de la diferencia.

MANNERS ARE IMPORTANT!

In our society manners are a greatly discussed issue. Philosophers think about them. Parents and teachers emphasize them. Good breeding requires them and many great writers, such as Ralph Waldo Emerson, have written and are still writing about them.

There are many reasons why manners are extremely accentuated. Because first impressions are inspired by the type of manners a person has, they are often helpful in gaining jobs. In many cases, social success depends on them. Frequently, happiness within the home is based on the attitudes and conduct of the family members among themselves. All of these are examples of manners.

Manners are the sum of habitual deportment and should not be confused with etiquette. Unlike etiquette, which is taught, good manners come from the heart. When these are combined, the result often reveals grace and good taste.

Many of the qualities that form a pleasant personality are based on manners. The kind of thoughtfulness that makes a person nice to have around is all a part of being nice on the inside. Another quality about pleasant people is that they are also agreeable in outward ways. The sum of these external and internal qualities is good manners.

In most cases manners are learned in the home. Accordingly, the courtesy that is born within the family often dies there. Due to excessive trials, good manners are more easily lost in the home than anywhere else.

Manners are merely rules that serve as a social guide. Often people shrug off manners on the pretense that they are handicaps forced on all people by the upper class. Responsible persons, however, face the fact that they will be subject to some type of authority all their lives and abide by the rules.

MEET THE PRESIDENT; Bryant Price, Library Club

This week Meet the President would like to salute Bryant Price, president of the Library Club, last year he was vice-president. He was a member of the Science club since the seventh grade. He is chairman of the cafeteria committee of the student council and plays baritone in the band.

Bryant was born in Belle Glade and has devoted his life to trying to find something to do all of the time. He likes to stay "on-the-go" all the time, to work, to collect stamps, to argue with teachers, to attend speech and art classes, and to drive burgundy '67 Mustangs.

Seahawks Fly Past Rams, 88-62

Terrific shooting and excellent defense were the two major factors in the game between the Golden RAMS and the Seacrest Seahawks. The RAMS, after making a victorious performance at the Christmas tournaments and sporting a fine record of five wins and two losses, lost to the Seahawks, with a record of six wins and three losses, by the score of 88-62.

After a point for first quarter, the Seahawks began to press the RAMS into fumbling the ball and the RAMS, trying till the last, just couldn't make up for the points they had lost during the first half. Quen Wilson, a Junior, was high point man with 24 points to his favor. Seacrest's Warren Monroe and Tom Olson followed closely behind with 22 and 20 points respectively. The RAMS' Bryant Davis was among the high scorers of the game with 20 points.

TEACHER OF THE WEEK; Mrs. LaFlam

It is a familiar sight to walk into Mrs. Eunice LaFlam's room and see her sitting encircled by a group of students. She enjoys working with students and therefore has a full schedule. Presently she is teaching four classes of English. Even though teaching English, she has taken on the load of teaching Journalism. Any Journalism student can tell one that she is always willing to help and is patient and understanding.

In addition to working with students all day, Mrs. LaFlam has a family of her own. Most of her children are already familiar with her blonde, curly-haired, blue-eyed girl Charlotte, who is 2 1/2. Just last week another member was added to the family. The LaFlams adopted another baby girl, Laura Frances. This one has black hair and dark eyes in contrast with Charlotte's light hair and blue eyes.

New Year's Resolutions

... to learn to tolerate the teachers and help them tolerate us.

... to beat Pahokee next year in football.

... to graduate with the rest of the "Class of 67"

... to not lose something the day after you get it.

... to have the best senior class ever.

... to get all term papers in on time.

... to pass semester exams.

... to have more school spirit.

... to go to class prepared.

... to be more friendly to everybody anywhere you go.

... to succeed in everything you attempt.

... to keep rumors to yourself and not spread them.

... to offer more time and service to school and community life.

... to take people more seriously and not think they are kidding about everything.

"Girls Talk"

We are talking in our fashions daily but we have quite a way to go.

A tip to the girls in grade 7 through 12: we should be careful in selecting our colors. We can't just wear any color, because some colors do not harmonize with others.

There seems to be quite a bit of confusion in our minds concerning the proper styles of dress for special occasions. For instance, when we had our coronation some of the girls came in loafers and tennis shoes.

For our school wear we are doing a nice job, but some of us are wearing our dresses a little too short. The make up I have been seeing around the campus doesn't agree with the skin.

There will be another girl talk next week on dating. Ruby Henderson (Miss L. S. H.)

NDEA Course To Be Offered At Fla. State

The Departments of Government and Social Studies Education at Florida State University announced today that an institute for advanced study in civics for 27 teachers and supervisors, grades nine thru 12, will be held this summer.

Individuals interested in attending the eight-week NDEA institute should obtain application forms from Dr. Elton E. Rody, director of the institute, 318 Williams Building, FSU. Participants receive $75 per week and dependency allowances.

Applications will be accepted through March 20, Rody said. To be eligible candidates must hold at least a baccalaureate degree and a standard certificate on the secondary or supervisory level.

Participants must have 18 or less hours in government or political science, and must have been teaching at least for two years.

Purpose of the Office of Education sponsored institute is to give the participants a thorough theoretical understanding of Marxist-Leninist philosophy and of the political development of the communist movement in the 20th Century.

Participants will be expected to examine democracy as a belief system which expresses conflicting substantive values; as a process of government; and in terms of empirically measured perceptions of the citizens of various democratic states.

Classes, meeting 18 hours per week, will be held Monday through Friday. Four days will be devoted to field trips. These will be supplemented by informal and special sessions.

Participants will be expected to earn nine semester hours of graduate credit. Four guest scholars will be on the campus for two-day seminars during the institute. Their lecture topics will be on the Communist Perspective, World Communism, Communist China, Problems in Teaching Democracy and Communism.

Commissioner William T. Mayo assumed the chairmanship of the Florida Public Service Commission. He will serve for two years.

He succeeded Commissioner Edwin L. Mason. Mayo was elected to a full four-year term in the spring primaries last year, winning in the first primary. He carried 67 counties. Mayo was appointed to the commission September 1, 1964 by Governor Bryant, to fill the unexpired term of the late Wilbur King who died in an automobile accident.

These classes will meet twice weekly, Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning January 12 through February 21. Additional classes will be organized after February, if a sufficient number of school personnel enroll, it is stated.

This twelve-week course — designed to help employees within the school system prepare for automation within the school system, which is currently being planned — is being offered through the County Vocational School, with the Director of Data Processing of the Palm Beach County School System, Mr. Jack Kelly, as its instructor.

H. C. Willy and Sons Grocery store was the scene of an apparent attempted robbery Sunday.

The attempted safe cracking was thwarted by the explosion of a tear gas pellet inside the safe. The robbery was discovered Sunday morning by Willy.

Det. Lt. Claude A. Tindall, who heads the Glades detachment of the sheriff's office, said a hole about 24 inches square had been knocked in the east side of the roof of the general store.

2 Car Collision

Highway 27 was the scene of a two car accident Monday morning when three people suffering from minor injuries. The accident was the third in the area being resurfaced.

A 1961 model auto, driven by Louise Rowan, Camden, N. J., struck the rear of a 1962 model vehicle driven by Louis Clarke, Cincinnati. The accident was the third in the area being resurfaced.

A minor leg injury, her husband, Walter a passenger in the auto was injured. Clarke complained of a whiplash. Jessie Jackson a passenger complained of a shoulder injury. Forrest Miller, also a passenger was injured. None of the injured was hospitalized.

There were no charges according to Florida Highway Patrol Trooper Calvin Luckwood.

Truck Crashes

A large tractor-trailer that had been driven for more than 90 miles without brakes caused an accident about three miles south of here Monday on Highway 27.

According to Trooper W. B. Richardson of the Florida Highway Patrol, the truck driver by James R. Jeffries of Xenia, Ohio had been operating with out brakes.

Riding in the rig with Jeffries was his wife Mary and their 3 year old son, Rankin. Ronald Lee Rose of Hot Springs, Ark., was operating the lead tractor-trailer, he had stopped for one-way traffic of Highway 27 when he was rammed from the behind by the Jeffries' rig.

Both vehicles involved in the accident were owned by the Deggeller Shows, a carnival that has its winter quarters in Stuart. The carnival was en route to Belle Glade, where it is slated to open Tuesday.

Jeffries was admitted to Glades General Hospital with neck and possible internal injuries.

Richardson said investigation into the crash was continuing. He charged Jeffries with operating a vehicle with inadequate brakes.

MINUS MITTENS — In 1889 one of the most savage fights in boxing history took place. John L. Sullivan, often called the "Boston Strong Boy" knocked out Jake Kilrain in a 75 round fracas. Lasting 2 hours, 15 minutes and 25 seconds, it was the last bare knuckle match in professional boxing.

Winners were Little Rascals, first; Wee Four, First Sugarland Dolls, First; Patonettes, First; Sugar Babies, Second Place; Patty Puffs, Second; Small Team; Patty Puffs, Second; Patty Winks, Large Team, Second; Patets, Second; and Little Rascals, second.

Today, Edwin A. Menninger is recognized as an international authority on trees. He has written a number of books on the subject but none in my opinion more interesting and informative than his latest just off the press entitled "Fantastic Trees."

I have just finished reading it and my eyes have been opened to the wonderful world of trees. Thanks to my friend Menninger, trees have become as real and amazing as human beings and their lives as complicated.

Believe it or not, there are trees that thrust their roots into the air, or produce fruit and flowers underground, or make noise, or change their sexes, or commit suicide, or provide their own rain or their own respiration gases.

Behind these oddities of form and conduct lie the partially solved mysteries of botany and the larger mysteries of all the life sciences. What makes the behavior of trees at times seem so much like human beings? What guides the individual in its struggle for survival, in its contest with its changing environment?

Among the odd and mysterious trees Menninger describes are some that flap their leaves and create weird noises, trees that actually display affection for other trees and reach out to embrace them, the arithmetic tree, trees that cannot live without animals, trees that tell time, others that predict weather changes or even produce their own rain, trees that struggle.

If trees could get together and stage a freak show, they could hold their own with the best freak exhibits our circus can produce. There you would find the cannonball tree, two headed palms, trees producing fruit that explodes, man eating trees, fireproof trees, commonly called the monkey denner bell, giant trees, fat trees, writhing lianas, sausage trees and countless others.

To most of us trees are trees but to the nature student they present an amazing variety of strange and mysterious character. If you would like to learn more on this fascinating subject you will enjoy reading "Fantastic Trees" by Edwin A. Menninger, published by Viking Press, 625 Madison Avenue, New York, $8.95.

Maybe our '67 Pontiac is breaking sales records because people don't want to wait until '68 for a copy.

Our engineers have become used to seeing their ideas show up on other cars. Two years later. And apparently so have a lot of car buyers. Because 1967 Pontiacs are selling faster than 1966 Pontiacs. And '66 was a record year.

When you think about it, why should you wait around for innovations like our disappearing windshield wipers? Or for imaginative options like our exclusive hood-mounted tach? Especially when you consider that our engineers

I met him first as editor and publisher of the Stuart News of Stuart, Florida shortly after I became secretary of the Florida Press Association.

Although I did not know it at the time and probably he didn't, Edwin A. Menninger was just entering a field of knowledge that was to make him as famous in his unusual field as his famed brother Dr. William C. Menninger of the Menninger Foundation, Topeka, Kansas.

Since boyhood Edwin Menninger had been a lover of trees. When business success provided time and finances he began a study of flowering trees and plants. The search for knowledge of his chosen subject took him all over the world and expanded to cover all trees.

Today, Edwin A. Menninger is recognized as an international authority on trees. He has written a number of books on the subject but none in my opinion more interesting and informative than his latest just off the press entitled "Fantastic Trees."

I have just finished reading it and my eyes have been opened to the wonderful world of trees. Thanks to my friend Menninger, trees have become as real and amazing as human beings and their lives as complicated.

4-H Guides Youth

Adjusting to change is one of the toughest demands modern society makes on every man, woman and child in the United States. Schools, churches, business, government and civic organizations are all involved because they influence the thoughts and actions of their particular clientele. Today's children are especially vulnerable.

For more than half a century the 4-H Clubs have endeavored to guide the youth of our country through the fourfold program of developing Head, Heart, Hands and Health to better living. So far, 4-H has touched 23 million men and women. Currently there are 2 1/2 million boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 19 who are members of the 94,800 clubs in every county throughout the 50 states. During the past decade 4-H has quietly adjusted to change:

Electric Production Up In Florida

The fantastic expansion of the power industry in Florida has outpaced most other economic growth indicators in recent years and continued to lead last year, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce stated. "The production of electricity in the state during the first eight months of 1966 reached the staggering total of 24.1 billion kilowatt-hours. Unbelievably this eight-month total is slightly more than the amount produced during the entire eight-year period, 1941 through 1948.

families leaving the farm for towns and cities; city folks moving to the country; the mushrooming of suburbia; the unprecedented advance of technology and science; the expanding interests and needs of youth.

Among the broad goals for 4-H are to gain knowledge and skills. Strong emphasis is placed on leadership, citizenship and upgrading of personal standards. Projects are many and varied. Members learn to cook, tend a garden, care for livestock and household safety, use safe practices at all times in the home, school, recreation, on the highway and farm.

There are also projects in photography, entomology, economics, public speaking and nutrition. The learn-by-doing method helps to give the youngsters a pretty good start toward a future career. Many go on to college as the result of project experience, and some are aided through 4-H scholarships.

The 4-H Clubs do not take the place of formal education or parental guidance and responsibility. But they do help. The fact that in 4-H there is literally "something for every boy and girl" makes 4-H unique, and commands the respect, support and cooperation of residents of the communities it serves, and business as well.

If your sons or daughters are of 4-H age, why not contact Mrs. Marylou Shiraz, Area Extension Home Economics Agent, and get them enrolled in a club. You'll be glad you did.
